Description

Set against the dramatic backdrop of the Mont Blanc massif, this contemporary chalet offers a calm, design-led base in the ever-popular town of Chamonix. The setting feels peaceful and slightly removed, yet you're still within easy reach of the slopes, hiking trails and the town's restaurants and shops.

Inside, the 150 m² layout is arranged over two floors and works well for groups of up to eight. The open-plan living area is clearly the focal point — a bright, sociable space with large windows framing uninterrupted mountain views. A wood-burning fireplace brings warmth and atmosphere in winter, while underfloor heating keeps things comfortable throughout. The dining table seats up to ten, making it well suited to relaxed group dinners, and the open kitchen with its central island is fully equipped for proper home cooking (raclette and fondue nights are very much encouraged).

All four bedrooms are doubles, each with its own en-suite bathroom and walk-in shower. The set-up is practical and private, making it a good option for families or a group of friends travelling together. A guest WC on the entrance level and a separate laundry room upstairs add useful functionality for longer stays.

After a day on the mountain, the outdoor jacuzzi on the terrace offers a welcome moment of relaxation, perfectly positioned to soak in the sweeping alpine views — particularly impressive at sunset — and there's a barbecue for easy summer meals in the open air.

Guests also benefit from breakfast preparation service, mid-week housekeeping, end-of-stay cleaning and a personal welcome on arrival. High-speed Wi-Fi, private underground parking and ski storage with boot warmers are included, and there's access to a shared fitness room and a sauna within the residence. A concierge service is on hand to organise everything from lift passes to restaurant reservations.

All in all, this is a smart, well-equipped chalet that combines mountain views, practical comfort and a few thoughtful extras — ideal for those who want contemporary style without losing that classic Chamonix atmosphere.
